

Statement

Following the definitions of the REACH-regulation all the components manufactured by PEAK electronics GmbH are “articles”, since their function is determined to a greater degree by their special shape, surface or design than by their chemical composition. Therefore, we were only to take part in the pre-registration process if the chemical substances our articles were intended to be released under normal or reasonably foreseeable conditions of use. Since all the substances contained in our products are destined to remain in the articles over their whole lifespan, we are not obliged to pre-register.

If our products do contain any substances that will be listed in appendix XIV as a result of the currently ongoing identification process of art. 59 of the REACH-regulation, we will provide you with the appropriate instructions and information according to art. 7 paragraph 3.
